

Kathryn Stephens
Kathryn.Stephens@nsci-va.org
(757) 871-8699

Mrs. Stephens is a Research Analyst for the National Security Cyberspace Institute. She has over two years experience in administrative positions where her duties included maintaining schedules, resolving customer issues, data entry, correspondence for multiple doctors and medical staff members, and ensuring compliance with medical privacy regulatory requirements. She also has experience in website maintenance, advertising and utilizing co-op funds. Mrs. Stephens most recently conducted research in support of, and drafted, cyberspace-related papers including "Cyberspace as a National Deterrent", "Cyberspace Scholarship and Internship Opportunities", and "Differentiated Security for Cyberspace".

EDUCATION:

2006 – Present, Bachelor Degree – General Studies, University of Maryland (25% complete)
2005, General Studies Diploma, Thomas C. Clark High School, San Antonio, TX

CAREER CHRONOLOGY

1. June 2008 – Present, Research Analyst, National Security Cyberspace Institute, Smithfield VA
2. May 2007 – June 2008, Administrative Assistant, Unusual Designs, Inc., Newport News, VA
3. April 2006 – May 2007, Receptionist, Urology of Virginia and Lakeview Medical Center, Chesapeake, VA